

Perilya Limited is a dynamic base metals miner and an S&P/ASX 200 listed company. It is an Australian success story. As one of Australia's largest base metal miners, Perilya owns and operates the iconic Broken Hill mine in New South Wales. Perilya's exploration and development interests include projects throughout Australia and in the state of Sabah in Malaysia.

Our people reflect a company culture of mixing young professionals with generations of local knowledge and experience. Led by a team of skilled business leaders, we understand that people are our most important asset and investment. We are committed to attracting and retaining resourceful, innovative and dedicated people, offering great career opportunities with attractive benefits.

Manager Health & Safety Adelaide or Perth

- Support line management in promoting an independent safety culture and developing management systems.
- Monitor and interpret relevant legislation, policies and regulations in order to provide direction and advice to the management team to ensure regulatory compliance across the organisation.
- Contribute to improvement of health and safety performance by providing specialist support to the Perilya operations management and executive team.
- Manage the upgrade and implementation of the Perilya wide HSE management system, including the crisis management system.
- Develop and implement best practice, practical safety and health protocols, standards and procedures.
- Coordinate and effectively implement strategic health and safety improvement initiatives.
- Monitor and provide assurance on the effective operation of the HSE management system and recommend strategies for improvement.

The purpose of the role is to support the general manager sustainable development in the development, implementation and operation of the HSE management system. The role will ensure the HSE management system and requisite elements are in place to ensure the company meets its legal obligations and consistently applies high standards to continually improve its health and safety performance across the company.

This role requires a degree or diploma in OHS or a related discipline, knowledge of HSE legislation and regulation. Relevant qualifications in risk management, assessment and workplace training would be an advantage.

To be successful in this role you should have at least five years experience in the resources or heavy industry sectors, extensive knowledge, understanding of, and experience with, safety and health management systems and behavioural based safety programs. You will have well developed leadership, communication, organisational and interpersonal skills, experience in planning, leading and achieving organisational objectives and outcomes, and demonstrated ability to deliver improved safety and health outcomes.

This position includes an attractive remuneration package including base salary and superannuation, private health cover, employee share plan and salary sacrificing opportunities.

Please forward your application, detailing your relevant experience to nicole.marshall@perilya.com.au

Perilya Limited is a base metals mining and exploration company.