

ASX and Media Release

1 October 2009

POWER RESTORED AT BROKEN HILL

Perilya (ASX:PEM) today confirmed that grid power was restored to Broken Hill Tuesday evening, with full power restored at its Broken Hill mining operations at around 7:00pm Tuesday night.

The Company expects to return to full mining production today. As previously advised, Perilya does not anticipate any impact on production for the December quarter, with the Company fully expecting to achieve market guidance for metal production for both the December quarter and the full financial year.
